Faculty Publications –

Realizing how important it is for a good teacher to keep abreast of the latest in their respective fields the faculty at IGIPESS is encouraged to pursue research and submit projects. These projects also help nurture a research atmosphere in the college and provide the young students early exposure to 'real' hands-on experimentation using sophisticated instrumentation. Hence, the faculty besides fulfilling their teaching responsibilities is active in research and therefore the research publications follow. All such efforts of the college result in the rich collection of publications as well as of papers presented in conferences every year.
