Manuscripts Submission Guidelines for Regular articles

- All portions of the manuscript must be typed double-spaced and all pages numbered starting from the title page.
- The article must include content under following main headings: Title, Abstract, Introduction, and Methodology (Sample size with age and place, instrumentation/tools used along with its brief information,), Findings (include statistical applications, title of the table and description, graphical presentation and its description), Discussion of findings, Conclusion, Implication of research findings, References.
- The Title should be a brief phrase describing the contents of the paper. The title page should include the authors' full names, designation and affiliations. The name of the corresponding author along with phone, fax, E-mail information and present addresses of authors should appear as a footnote.
- The Abstract should be informative and completely self-explanatory. Briefly present the topic, state the scope of the experiments, indicate significant data, point out major findings and conclusions. The abstract should be 100 to 200 words in length. The abstract should be written in the past tense. Abbreviations should be avoided. Do not cite any literature in the abstract.
- Provide 3 to 10 key words following the abstract.
- A list of non-standard Abbreviations should be added. In general, non-standard abbreviations should be used only when the full term is very long and used often. Each abbreviation should be spelled out and introduced in parentheses the first time it is used in the text. Only recommended SI units should be used. Standard abbreviations need not be defined.
- The Introduction should provide a clear statement of the problem, the relevant literature on the subject, and the proposed approach or solution. It should be understandable to colleagues from a broad range of scientific disciplines.
- Methodology should be complete enough to allow experiments to be reproduced. However, only truly new procedures should be described in detail; previously published procedures should be cited, and important modifications of published procedures should be mentioned briefly. Methods in general use need not be described in detail.
- Findings should be presented with clarity and precision. The results should be written in the past tense when describing findings in the authors' experiments. Previously published findings should be written in the present tense. Results should be explained, but largely without referring to the literature.
- The Discussion of Findings should interpret the findings in view of the results obtained in this and in past studies on this topic.

- Conclusions should be stated in a few sentences at the end of the paper.
- Implication of research findings should be provided after the conclusion.
- Articles submitted should adhere to the conditions of plagiarism.
- Tables should be designed to be as simple as possible. Tables are to be typed double-spaced throughout, including headings and footnotes. Each table should be on a separate page, numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals and supplied with a heading and a legend. Tables should be prepared in Microsoft Word. Tables should be self-explanatory without reference to the text. The same data should not be presented in both table and graph form or repeated in the text.
- Figure legends should be typed in numerical order on a separate sheet. Graphics should be prepared using applications capable of generating high resolution JPEG or Power-point before pasting in the Microsoft Word manuscript file. Use Arabic numerals to designate figures and upper case letters for their parts (Figure 1). Begin each legend with a title and include sufficient description so that the figure is understandable without reading the text of the manuscript. Information given in legends should not be repeated in the text.
- Reference should be listed at the end of the paper in alphabetical order. Articles in preparation or articles submitted for publication, unpublished observations, personal communications, etc. should not be included in the reference list but should only be mentioned in the article text. Reference should be written in APA format. Some example of APA format Reference are mentioned below:
